Subject: Admission for Master's Program on China Studies, Fall 2022

To:

To whom it may concern,

I am writing this letter to inform you that admission for the Master's program on China Studies is available at the Graduate Institute of National Development and China Studies at Chinese Culture University (Taiwan) now. Our English program is designed to provide graduate students with tangible and combinative knowledge in terms of the diversity and complexity of National Development and China's transformation and its impact locally, regionally, and globally. For international students, this program aims specifically at broadening their horizons and helping them develop a unique portfolio of knowledge and research of contemporary developments about Taiwan and China-related affairs with a global outlook. We offer the best courses; we have the best professors; we have extremely good connections with China as well as other international universities. Most of all, we offer one of the best financial supports in Taiwan. Our scholarship program is very attractive, ranging from tuition-waive to NT$100,000 per year scholarship stipend up for your grasp.

If you are interested in our program, please prepare the following materials:

1. TOEIC 620 (or IELTS 5.0 or TOEFL IBT 64)
2. A study plan (one or two pages)
3. 2 recommendation letters (optional)
4. Undergraduate transcripts and diploma (can submit AFTER admission)
- 5.

Admissions for Fall 2022

Graduate Institute of National Development and Mainland China Studies

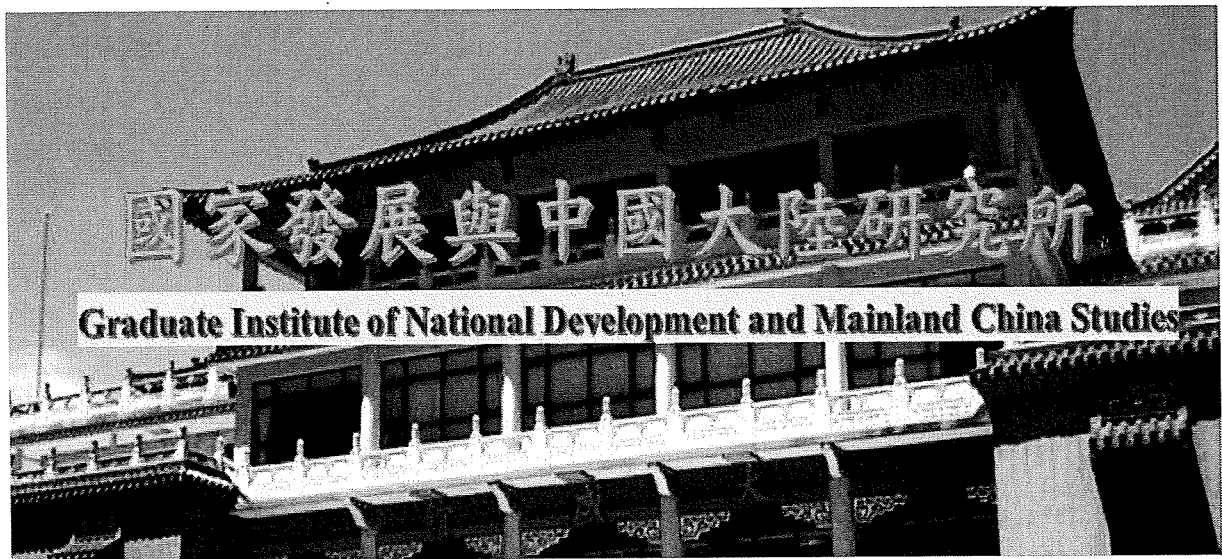

The Chinese Culture University (CCU) was established in 1962 with the founding missions to carry forward the Chinese culture by means of inheriting and developing the academic legacy, wisdoms of past sages, and scientific achievements all over the world.

CCU is located in Taipei, Taiwan, adjacent to the scenic Yangmingshan National Park, giving students a convenient access to approach the international political and commercial center of Taiwan and trails of the beautiful mountain

CCU has over sixty programs and the Graduate Institute of National Development and China Studies is one of the best, offering a Chinese as well as an English master's program and a doctoral program. The English program is designed to provide graduate students with tangible and combinative knowledge in terms of the diversity and complexity of National Development and China's transformation and its impact locally, regionally and globally. For international students, this program aims specifically to broaden their horizons and help them develop a unique portfolio of knowledge and research of contemporary developments about Taiwan and China related affairs with a global outlook.

We are part of CCU's College of Social Science, and draw on English-speaking faculty throughout the campus. Besides, we also provide excellent learning experiences to study Mandarin at the same time in CCU campus.

For the future planning, students in this program will not only have a chance to enhance their understandings towards National development, China, and the world as a whole but also train them for positions in government, research institutions, business, education, community organizations, media and other cultural institutions.
